

Excited by the big uranium "strikes" in the back country, I grabbed a Geiger counter and took off for the diggings. In a pig's eye, that is. You can have my share of all the uranium found in commercial quantities in San Diego County, and I'll never miss it.

Personally, I'm too busy fighting gophers and listening to mocking birds to bother about uranium.

I filled in 30 or 40 gopher holes in my front "lawn" Sunday. Naturally, the varmints popped up again Monday; and in a few days the lawn undoubtedly will again resemble a miniature World War II airfield pocked with bomb craters. Yeah, we've tried poison, traps, chemical warfare and castor beans.

Everything but broken glass. I knew a "guy" who used to fill in gopher holes with broken glass—he said it cut off their feet and that was that. Not for me, brother.

The mocking birds also have declared open season on me again this spring.

It's subversive, of course, to mention this in public, and I'll probably be denounced by the Joyous Bird Watchers of America, Inc.. But it's time somebody was telling the truth about mocking birds and their effect on working stiff with jangled nerves.

One of these feathered fiends has posted himself outside my bedroom window, and awakens me at dawn with his goshawful racket. For a guy who works late at night, or stays up late reading, that's murder.

This mocker isn't nearly as bad, though, as one that used to keep me awake all night. I'll give you a rough idea of what he did to me once with a typical nocturnal serenade.

He warmed up his pipes with a tentative "tweet, tweet, tweet," and then let go a shrill whistle, repeated a few times, that went through me like a rapier. Then, the preliminaries over, he gave out with a pourpour of squawks, trills, chirps and twitters.

High, low (jack and the game.) He clucked, clacked and clomored, cawed, crowed and quavered, squealed, squeaked and shrieked, and sometimes even warbled.

Shuddering violently, I got up and closed the window. No difference. I stuffed cotton in my ears. No soap. I took a swig of N-rvine. No hope, you dope.

The hue and cry went on, hour after hour, while I tossed and muttered, meditating murder. The tireless bird made a mockery of all attempts to sleep; I gave up, finally, and just lay and took it.

His mood had changed for the worse now. He foamed and fulminated, screamed like a wounded owl, and growled, gurgled and gibbered.

"He's nuts," I muttered. "Either that or he's the reincarnation of that Japanese radio announcer who smashed his mike and committed hara-kiri when the Americans first bombed Tokyo."

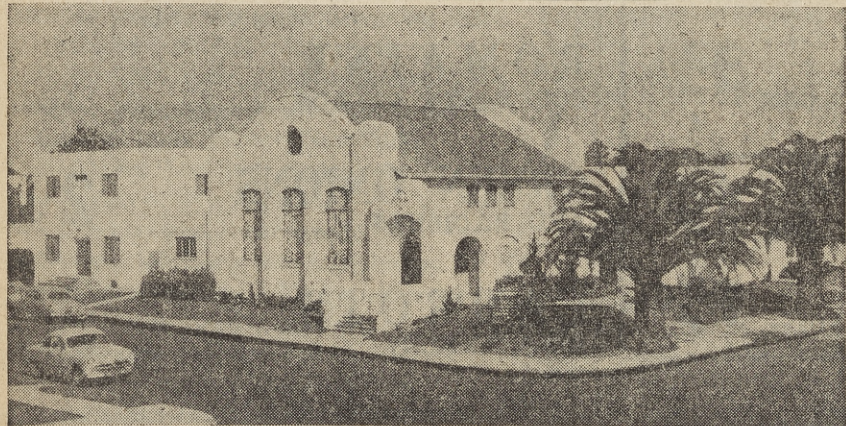

"Maybe I ought to get that old hand grenade in the garage and bump him off again!"

I was pretty desperate. I went outside in my pajamas, grabbed a clod of dirt, and heaved it at the tree where the mocker was holding forth.

It flushed him, all right. He flew out of the foliage and alighted in another tree nearby. Then he did it all over again. Yeah, you can have 'em.

Easter Sunrise Service To Be Held On Pt. Loma

Capt. Harris Winchester Howe, senior chaplain at the Naval Training Center, will deliver the Easter message at the fifth annual Easter Sunrise Service Sunday, April 10, at 6:30 a.m. at Cabrillo National Monument, Point Loma.

That announcement was made yesterday by Don Robinson, monument superintendent and chairman for the service. It is sponsored by Point Loma Kiwanis Club, Robert Donais, president. The Point Loma High School Choir, directed by Robert Heninger, and comprising 100 students, will sing Easter choral selections.

Between 2500 and 3000 persons attended the Sunrise Service last year; about the same number are expected Sunday. "There is ample parking," said Robinson. "It will be handled by Kiwanis members, as in the past. There is room for more than 1000 cars."

Some 2500 folding chairs will be placed in the loop around the lighthouse, Robinson said.

The parking plan is well organized; no cars will move during the service. All cars will enter the area via Catalina Blvd., with the gate at the Naval Electronics Laboratory opening at 5 a.m.

Site of the Sunrise Service commands one of the three most scenic views in the world as listed by the Encyclopedia Britannica, the others being Rio de Janeiro and Naples.

Robinson said Cabrillo Monument during 1954 again topped the Statue of Liberty by 30,000 visitors as the most-visited national monument in the U. S. Total attendance was 834,000, mostly out-of-town visitors, he said.

Chaplain Howe, who will deliver the Easter message Sunday, resides at 1224 Catalina Blvd. His wife, Mrs. Jean H. Howe, teaches at Logan Elementary School.

Bank Of America To Open Branch

Bank of America will open a new branch soon in temporary quarters at 1065 Rosecrans St., according to Ira E. Ogden, vice president of the Southern California operations.

Plans call for operation of the branch bank at that location until a new permanent building is erected, it was reported.

Ogden said: "Population of the Point Loma area has doubled within the last four years. The expanding population and personnel of the Naval Training Center and Marine Recruit Depot will find the branch convenient."

O. B. Kiwanis Club

R. B. (Bud) James, County Clerk, discussed the functions of his office at Tuesday night's meeting of the Ocean Beach Kiwanis Club. He drew laughs with the humorous anecdotes spicing his talk. Frank Owen was program chairman.

Perfect attendance pins were awarded to Lou Fleetwood, 8 years; Ed Peterson and Clyde Wood, 4 years.

Next Tuesday Hugh B. Greer will give the second half of his talk on the United Nations. Russell Wilson will be program chairman.

Dail & Foster To Speak Here Monday Night

Councilman Charles C. Dail and Harry L. Foster, candidates for Mayor, have accepted invitations to speak at the general meeting of the Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce Monday, April 11 at 8 p.m. in O. B. Community Center.

Candidates for City Council who have indicated they will speak here Monday include D. D. Williams, local resident; Al Mix and Frank E. Curran. Others invited are W. West Kennerly, Justin C. Evenson and Charles B. Wincote.

Residents of the Peninsula area are invited to attend. Harry La Dou, Chamber president, said that after a short business meeting, each candidate will speak for about five minutes, and then a question-and-answer period will follow.

Rod And Reelers Hope For Better Weekend Weather

San Diego's ninth annual $25,000 Yellowtail Derby got off to a slow start last Saturday, when strong winds and tremendous ground swells made fishing conditions at the Coronado Islands almost intolerable, but rod and reelers prepared to make up for lost time this weekend if the weather man decides to cooperate.

Most of the sportfishing boats out to launch the Junior Chamber of Commerce's fishing classic last Saturday were forced to return to the docks long before their usual time, but some fought it out to the bitter end and saved a complete white-washing by bagging two yellows.

Larger of the two proved to be a 20 pound 13 ounce taken by a 20-year-old sailor from the USS Brown, Klaus Hubenthal, whose home is Phoenix, Ariz. The other was a 14-8 taken by Viola Davidson, a San Diego anglerette.

Hubenthal, who made the catch from the Mascot III had his choice of two prizes, for his yellow was the larger and also the first taken. He selected an outboard motor, leaving the television set to Mrs. Davidson, who caught her fish from the Polaris.

Otherwise, fishing was steady during the week and highlights included the taking of two big black sea bass—a 297 pounder and a 173. The Point Loma kelp also came in for a share of the limelight by producing good catches of white sea bass.

Port Officials Foresee Bright Cargo Future

With word that the Mexicali Valley area will increase its cotton planting by a half-million acres, San Diego port officials are predicting another record shipping season for 1956.

Mexicali cotton accounts for approximately 80 percent of the port's cotton export business. Cotton shipments to date indicate a total of more than 200,000 bales will be shipped during this year.

Port Director John Bate stated that the average yield per acre was estimated at two bales. This would mean an additional cotton production of approximately 1,000,000 bales for Mexico.

If the port's Mexicali cotton percentage remains at the 80 percent figure, as it is likely to do, this would mean a new cargo potential of some 800,000 bales per year.

Bate said there were similar indications of an increased handling of cotton by-products, such as cottonseed meal. Scandinavian sources have expressed their desire to purchase thousands of tons of the meal for feeding dairy herds.

Faced with an already acute cargo storage situation, shippers and port officials point to the need for further facility development.

Proposition D on the April 19 ballot is their answer to the cargo congestion problem. It calls for the construction of a modern shipping terminal at the foot of Tenth Avenue.

POINT LOMA LITTLE LEAGUE ORGANIZED WITH FOUR TEAMS

Formation of a Point Loma Little League has been announced by Jack Bechard, president of the new group.

Players for the league will be drawn from residents of the Cabrillo, Sunset View and Silvergate school districts but the players do not necessarily have to attend those schools, Bechard said.

The Point Loma Little League will be made up of four teams of 15 boys, and sufficient additional "farm" teams as are necessary to make it possible for every boy who wishes to play to be placed on a team, Bechard explained.

Age limits for boys in Little League competition are that they must be eight years old or before July 31 and they may continue to compete as long as they become 13 years old on or after August 1 of the year in which they are playing, he pointed out.

Tryouts for the teams in the Point Loma Little League will open Saturday, April 16 at 9 a.m. at the Sunset View School playground. Additional tryouts

EASTER SEAL DRIVE ENDS

EASTER SUNDAY

San Diego County's 1955 Easter Seal campaign winds up Easter Sunday, and today Mrs. Robert G. Thompson, campaign chairman, appealed to those who have not mailed their contributions.

"We must not disappoint the many crippled children who are looking to Easter Seals for better lives," she declared.

"Children with all sorts of handicaps—cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, deafness, polio, accidental injuries and many others are helped with Easter Seal funds."

Locally, funds are used for the Children's Hospital outpatient clinic, to furnish general hospital care for handicapped children in this county and provide a summer camping program for crippled children. Seal funds also provide parental counseling and speech therapy.

Mrs. Thompson urged local residents who have not answered the appeal, to mail their contributions in the yellow envelopes that accompanied their Easter Seals, or contributions may be sent to San Diego Society for Crippled Children, 8001 Frost St., San Diego 11.

Harbor Days Queen Contest Announced

Applications for the 1955 Harbor Days Queen contest to be held May 14 at the Town and Country Club in Mission Valley are being accepted at headquarters of the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce, 947 Columbia St., it was announced by Robert Sanders, chairman of the Junior Chamber's Harbor Days Committee.

Winner of the contest, Sanders said, will preside over the colorful four-day marine celebration, scheduled for the weekend of May 27-30. Under the contest rules, he added, contestants are limited to San Diego County residents 16 years of age or older.

In addition, each applicant is required to forward her name, address, telephone number, age, occupation or school—along with a clear snapshot—to Junior Chamber headquarters.

Applications for the queen contest will be received through May 4.

Dail Hits Oil Drilling From Any Offshore Site

"I am unalterably opposed to oil drilling from offshore sites," Councilman Charles C. Dail, nominee for Mayor, told members of the La Jolla Businessmen's Association at La Valencia Hotel yesterday.

San Diego is fortunate in its geographic location, Dail said. Our climate, our miles of unexcelled beaches, our commercial and sport fishing beds, are natural advantages almost unequalled.

Offshore drilling, Dail said, would create unsightly structures, oil derricks and pumps, quite out of keeping with the recreational idea we have been selling across the nation. In addition, there would be the possibility of escaping oil ruining our beaches, Dail painted the possibility of miles of San Diego beaches deserted in midsummer, and covered with a thick, black oil slick. "No one could venture into the water," he said.

Dail pointed out that oil slick would contaminate the fishing beds, and either drive off the fish to cleaner feeding grounds, or kill them.

Oil slick would infiltrate Mission Bay with the tides, and completely ruin the City's already great investment there. It would be useless, Dail said, for the City to put one more nickel into Mission Bay Development, because no entrepreneur in his senses would risk setting up shop on an oil flat.

Finally, Dail said, offshore drilling here would remove any possibility of the Federal Government's establishing a pilot sea water conversion plant in San Diego. You can make fresh water from salt water, but not from oil.

Dail said as Mayor he would do everything in his power to effect the passage of State Senate bill No. 1404, amending the public resources code to prohibit offshore drilling in California, and would at the same time sponsor a municipal ordinance prohibiting it.

"I am not opposed to slant drilling from upland sites along the coast as such," Dail said, "but feel that the location of such sites, and the construction which can be put on them must be rigidly controlled by the City. The guiding factor in these cases must be whether or not they shall be in any way detrimental to our recreational facilities."

Our investment in San Diego's climate, beaches, Mission Bay, is already too great to jeopardize, and our expanding program to attract the outside dollar here is too important to sacrifice, Dail emphasized.

LOMANS LOSE TO LINCOLN

Point Loma High School's baseball team knocked off Grossmont, 6-0, Monday in the Lions Club Tournament, before being eliminated by Lincoln Tuesday.

Chad Brucker pitched a five-hitter for the locals against Grossmont, and Bud Gardner smacked a home run.

Lincoln defeated the Lomans 8-6 Tuesday, and moved into the finals against Hoover.

66 Boys Register For Pony League

Sixty-six boys have registered for the Ocean Beach Pony League, it was announced yesterday by R. V. Smallwood, president.

Four teams will compete in the league. Names and sponsors will be announced at a later date. O. B. businessmen and others who desire to sponsor or help sponsor a team are asked to contact Smallwood at 4931 Saratoga Ave., AC-2-6867.

League officers, in addition to Smallwood, are: Jack Dawson, vice president; Jack McCleod, secretary; G. E. Williams, treasurer; M. S. Hermans and Fred Rosso, fund committee.

Coaches are Earl Sandiford, S. A. Duncan, McCleod and Rosso.

EASTER RABBIT TO SCAMPER IN PARK SATURDAY

The Easter bunny visits San Diego a day early this year when "Peter Cottontail's Birthday Party" is presented in honor of the annual Easter Seal Campaign on Saturday, April 9 at 12:30 p.m. at the Balboa Park Organ Pavilion.

Presented by the Junior Civic Ballet, the entertainment is part of the Easter Parade of Wheels event conducted for children of the city by the San Diego Park and Recreation Department.

Competition will be held in six divisions for best decorated vehicles by children under 12 years of age. Judging will be by the Junior Women's Club while awards will be given in divisions for tricycles, wagon-autos, scooters, bicycles, baby buggies and wheel chairs by the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Linda Bowden will dance the leading role of Peter Cottontail in the ballet at which crippled children will be guests of honor. Treats will be given out to all youngsters watching the parade and show. Admission is free to all.

Foster Says Dail Is "Political Opportunist"

"If the office of Mayor is to be used purely as a political stepping stone, then the future of San Diego can well be in jeopardy," Harry L. Foster, Mayoral nominee, asserted this week.

"It is quite possible," he added, that a Mayor who has political ambitions beyond that of serving the City may not properly fulfill the obligations of his office. It is a proven fact that when an office is used purely for political purposes, every move and every act of the official is slanted toward his political profit rather than toward the good of the public.

"The record would indicate that my opponent in this campaign for Mayor is a political opportunist and it could be possible that he wants to be mayor for the prime purpose of advancing his future political career."

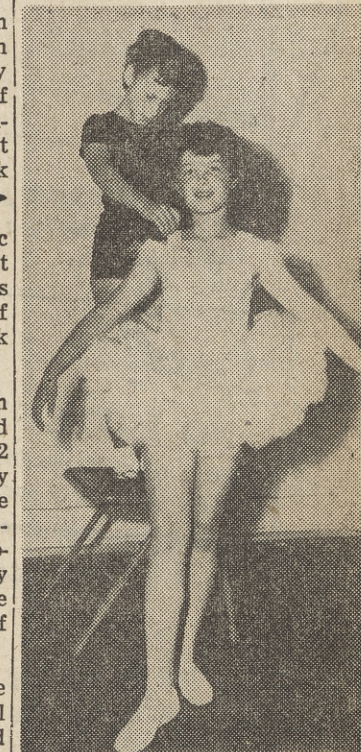

"Here is the record," Foster pointed out, "of political activity upon which this assumption is based."

"In 1942, just prior to his election to the City Council, he ran as a Democratic candidate against Col. Ed Fletcher and was defeated."

"In 1946, before completing his first term on the Council, he again ran as a Democrat against Fred Kraft for the State Senate and was defeated."

"In 1950, before completing his second term on the Council, he ran for the office of Board of Supervisors against Dan Rossi and was defeated."

"In view of this record, I ask you as citizens of San Diego, what office might he be seeking in 1956?"

Gun Club Meeting Set For Tonight

A gun club is being organized by members of the Lt. Bert A. Allen Post 2415, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The senior group now has 30 members to date. At the next meeting they will begin formulation of a junior club which will have a membership of persons from 12 to 18 years of age. Plans are also being made for a Ladies' and Gentlemen's Pistol Club.

These clubs are under the National Rifle Association of America. The NRA is a non-profit organization with a common interest in firearms and the sport of shooting. NRA offers its members reporting services in Congress and all state legislative bodies providing information about gun legislation affecting the hunter, collector, target shooter and citizen soldier.

Offered in the club will be experience guidance, instruction manuals, films and other vital aids for the organization and operation of junior and senior clubs.

A national shooting program from local matches to international events.

Meetings will be held the first Thursday of each month commencing April 1, at 8 p.m. Meeting place has been designated at the Ocean Beach Community Center, Santa Monica and Ebers street.

Any senior or junior interested is urged to attend the meeting April 7.
